

The series of information that was gathered on this post is just for your guideline. The changes happen every week. Please call or check your local authorities regarding changes before you book your departure.

Everywhere in the world is being lashed by the pandemic right now. Luckily, these countries are now open for traveling purposes but not entirely for tourism. Due to that, safety precautions that are regulated are the countries' primary concern and priority as of the moment. These precautions will help you prevent transmitting the COVID-19 virus. The primary safety precautions are:

1. Practicing social distancing
2. Wear a face mask and/or a face shield whenever outside
3. Always wash your hands. In some countries, hand sanitizers are available outside and accessible through not touching anything

There are some precautions that are specifically regulated to a specific country but the mentioned are the primary ones that are advised by various health organizations and governments, national or local wise.
